FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

Every year the students are required to plan and execute a one-month trip, all by themselves, to the university location in India. There will be so much learning happening from talks, workshops, seminars, fun activities, and excursions during the 30 days along with socializing, networking and bonding; that the value a student will derive during that period will be way beyond what most full-year regular courses from other institutions!

That's not all. The program will regularly feature dozens of renowned specialists in psychology and other top speakers from across the world. They will deliver virtual lectures virtually yet on the very same world-class content which they normally deliver in person. As a student, it is important to understand that it is practically neither possible nor viable for any university or institution to fly 50 to 100 speakers from all around the world for an in-person session/lecture.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

BY 3G SCHOOL OF APPLIED PSYCHOLOGY

Unlike other areas of specialization in psychology where paying customers will almost invariably hire/seek for services only from an experienced individual, career counselling is a segment where customers wouldn't hesitate to pay even fresh graduates in psychology. Having said, what is to be noted is that Career Counselling is an industry with a turnover of well over INR 5,000 Crores in India and is expected to grow rapidly in the decade of the 2020s and 30s. India needs not less than 1.50 million career counselors to cater to the needs of more than 400 million youths. We at 3G are on a mission to create One Million Career Coaches through our vertical 3G Me Life (www.3GMeLife.Com)!

23. Is instalment plan available for the program?

The Fee is already divided Year wise.

24. If I refer a friend to join the program and they get selected, will I earn?

Yes. You can. Please connect with our team at admin@3gschoolofpsychology.org

25. Why is the program focusing a lot on creating a profile for me?

Think about it for a moment. Be it your family doctor, dentist, auditor, or lawyer, you visit them and hire their services regularly, more because of who they are as a person than how good they are as a professional. Yes, they need to be good as a professional. But among the many good professionals, from your point of view, they stand out because of what they are as a person.

Similarly, people will come to you and hire your services more for who you are and then for what you do (in that order). That's why you are a personal brand, first! Only then you are a psychologist. Any psychologist has clients. When it comes to you, however, your brand will be created such that it brings you the top and best of clients in the town, city, or wherever be the location you practice. In business, 'Who your clients are?' does matter. What matters even more, however, is 'Whom do your clients know?'

Your social media profiles, be it LinkedIn, Instagram, Twitter, Facebook, etc. are all places where people visiting the pages perceive you in their own way. Once you are out of college, that perception changes from you as an individual to you as a brand. How well you manage others' perceptions about you and how much value you can extract from others' perceptions about you is a very fine science. To build and manage your career, you should first build and manage your Personal Brand. That's where 3G's support to build your brand comes into the picture.

26. Can the role or the job of a Psychologist be automated?

While the menial and repetitive tasks/jobs within the current roles of psychologists will be automated, the conclusions from many research papers from the recent past indicate that we are now at a juncture where it is time to stop thinking about AI as a battle of machines versus humans.

Rather, now is the right time to focus on how AI can optimize and improve clinicians' abilities to deliver better care and faster healing/recovery for their clients. This is where new and specialized roles like AI Psychologists will emerge in the near future. Psychologists who have a good foundation in AI and the ability to embrace the dynamic changes in the industry will be highly sought after and highly paid professionals. 3G's Masters in Psychology program has its foundation in AI and therefore gives its students an edge over those from other institutions.
